Missionaries to Honduras

Dear Pastor and Prayer Supporter,

Recent Open Doors:

Even as we remain busy with preparations for the conference, God is still providing opportunities for avenues of ministry. From continuing to assist in various local churches with preaching and music, to driving the bus every Sunday evening, to providing the police force with Scriptural materials nearly every month, we hold it a great privilege to be vessels of His work throughout the country of Honduras. We have also been continuing to make repairs and improvements to our facility, including remodeling the industrial kitchen and purchasing the necessary supplies. We also constructed new walls in our dining hall for a separate shop where the pastors can buy refreshments. My oldest son also set up an improved internet system for our property that will be able to handle 200+ users.

Upcoming Projects/Events:

As the conference rapidly approaches, our project list steadily rises. We are expected a container from the States to arrive in the Honduran port sometime this week. This container will provide Bibles, teaching materials, and study tools for the attending pastors which they can take home with them. We would highly appreciate any prayers towards this, and invariable there are difficulties and delays at the border. As the months turn into weeks, we pray that God continues to provide the necessary materials. We are so thankful that churches and individual continue to contact us with the desire to participate in our Sponsor-a-Pastor program. Praise the Lord, we have reached the number of 61 sponsored pastors! But in the remaining five weeks, we need more people to get involved to cover the additional 139 pastors. If you have not yet taken part in this program and have a desire to, please visit our website at our donation page. We desperately need your involvement and help to make this conference as impactful as possible for these visiting men of God.

We covet your prayers and your unwavering faithfulness, and we are so thankful and privileged to partner with you over all of these ministry opportunities. We are so excited to see what God does through each and every one, and we are continually humbled and amazed at the open doors He provides.

For His Glory,
The Lane Family
